

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 3rd, 2023 – 6 AM WEATHER FORECAST

Stunning across the board with sunshine taking full control today with maybe a few clouds lingering to our north later this afternoon. The morning breeze out of the northeast will briefly weaken around lunchtime, but pick back up as it begins to switch its direction more westerly for the afternoon. You might find yourself sneezing another time or two with our pollen count elevated, but our air quality still remains GOOD with these lighter winds keeping that smokieness at bay. Temperatures will warm through the upper 70s and tip into the low 80s as this warming trend is underway for mid-late week. This will quickly return to the upper 80s and low 90s for the last few rounds of Play. High pressure will still hold on, providing mostly sunny and very dry conditions with only a few high clouds sneaking in across the sky on Thursday.
