

WEDNESDAY, August 31st, 2022 – 6 AM WEATHER FORECAST

The front with its leading edge of showers and a few storms is upon us with around 0.10 - 0.25" of total accumulation possible this morning. This line of showers will lift northeast by about 9am and begin to clear out some of this cloud cover by lunchtime and early afternoon. A stray chance for a lingering shower this afternoon, otherwise a dry finish to the day. Speaking of dry, watch for our dew points begin to fall out of the low 70s and into the mid and lower 60s as the day wears on. Our winds will hold on to a westerly component all day with gusts in the mid 20s at times this afternoon. We clear out overnight with winds still westerly and still somewhat breezy on Thursday under mostly sunny skies. High pressure settles in throughout Thursday and will significantly reduce our humidity, drying us out and providing cooler temperatures Thursday night into Friday.
