

WEDNESDAY, JULY 19, 2023 – 7 AM WEATHER FORECAST

Today we start out mostly sunny with some clouds overhead as everyone is making their way to the course, but we will not stay that way long as clouds will begin to climb over the mountains in the late morning. We will hit our high of 84 degrees today relatively early because a cold front will push through the area bringing up our chances of thunderstorms into the afternoon and evening. Higher wind gusts and rain amounts are possible inside of a thunderstorm. Tonight we will keep a chance of showers and a low chance of a storm. Tomorrow we will start out in the 60s and only get up into the 70s as we have another chance of seeing thunderstorms in the afternoon. Friday our chances of rain and storms drops slightly with highs only in the mid 70s. Saturday our chances of rain and storms drops again giving us a great chance to have a good final day of the championship.
