

SATURDAY, JULY 22, 2023 – 6 AM WEATHER FORECAST

We are off to a crisp clear morning as our temps are in the low 50s and calm winds, but we will quickly get up into the 80s by mid morning and our winds will begin to rise as well. Going into the afternoon clouds will begin to roll in slowly and our chances of rain / storms begin to rise as well. Our greatest chance of seeing any active weather will come between 4 and 6 pm this afternoon. Most of the models have showers and storms missing us to our west this afternoon. Tonight we will get back into the 50s with a chance of showers overnight. Tomorrow will be a dry warm day in Colorado, but we will still have a chance of seeing an afternoon shower or two.
