

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 9, 2023 – 6 AM WEATHER FORECAST

This morning we are starting off with clouds overhead and we should get used to them today as we are likely to see them the rest of the day. Our clouds could clear out slightly in the late morning and early afternoon but come right back in the afternoon. We do have a chance of rain this afternoon as well and that will carry over into the evening. Overnight clouds are expected to stick around into the early morning, and early tomorrow is our highest chance of seeing rain and possibly thunderstorms as what is left of the tropical depression makes its way to the coast. As the moisture makes its way on shore we could see heavy downpours and possibly a thunderstorm. Once the skies clear from the early morning showers we will have some sunshine peak through the clouds the rest of the day getting up to the low to mid 70s. Friday we could start out foggy again in the early morning, but once we get past the morning hours we will have lots of sunshine the rest of the day as we will get up to the mid to upper 70s for the high. Saturday looks to be getting back to sunny weather as of now few clouds and lots of sunshine seem likely with highs in the high 70s to low 80s. Sunday looks to be even better with fewer clouds and a high in the high 70s to low 80s.
