

LIBERTY CORNER, N.J. (Aug. 22, 2022) – The USGA today announced a slate of on-site experiences for the 4th U.S. Senior Women’s Open, set to take place at NCR Country Club in Kettering, Ohio, from Aug. 25-28, 2022.

Tickets for the 4th U.S. Senior Women’s Open Championship are still available. With no rope lines, the U.S. Senior Women’s Open Championship is one of the only major championships that offers fans the opportunity to walk the fairways alongside some of golf’s legends, including defending U.S. Senior Women’s Open champion and three-time U.S. Women’s Open champion Annika Sorenstam.

From junior scavenger hunts to food trucks offering delectable local items, the U.S. Senior Women’s Open will provide a family-friendly experience throughout the championship. Fans will be able to attend any one of the four rounds by purchasing good-any-one-day gallery tickets, which are available as a single ticket option for $30 or as a two-pack for $50. The good-any-one-day ticket provides fans with the flexibility to attend the championship at their leisure and includes complimentary parking. Juniors (age 18 and under) receive free admission when accompanied by a ticketed adult.

For those who are not able to attend on-site, the championship can also be enjoyed from home. The final two rounds will be aired on Peacock, with same-day replays on Golf Channel (all times EDT).

In addition, the USGA is pleased to announce that altafiber has been named a Regional Supporter of the championship, lending its efforts to enhancing the volunteer program.

There will be approximately 500 local volunteers on-site at the U.S. Senior Women’s Open dedicating their time in the following areas: scoring, competition, hospitality and player services. Thanks to altafiber, volunteers will receive an elevated program experience by offsetting the costs of meals, uniforms and more.

“We are excited and grateful to have altafiber as the regional supporter of our volunteer program this year,” said Katherine Khoury, senior manager of the U.S. Senior Women’s Open for the USGA. “Volunteers are crucial to the success of each USGA championship and play a pivotal role in bringing the player and fan experience to life. We continue to be thankful for the support of the Kettering community and the surrounding area.”

altafiber, which recently opened an office and retail store in Dayton, delivers integrated communication solutions to residential and business customers over its fiber-optic network, including high-speed internet, video, voice and data. As the leading supplier of fiber-based services in Greater Cincinnati, altafiber has invested more than $1 billion into expanding its fiber network across the region.

“We are thrilled to be part of this great championship and proud to be the Regional Supporter of the Volunteer Program of the U.S. Senior Women’s Open. We look forward to seeing legends of the game tee it up this week,” said Jason Praeter, president and general manager of altafiber’s Network Division.
